

CATYC Call for Proposals

Council on Accreditation for Two-Year Colleges (CATYC) was established in 1937. This organization brings forward and contributes to the dialogue with HLC in matters of particular relevance to two-year colleges. An example is the change in rules for faculty credentialing and the time-line for implementing the policy. CATYC sought to influence HLC to address two-year college concerns with meeting initial time-lines which were ultimately modified and clarity was also given to the application of tested experience particularly relevant to technical / workforce programs.

Fall 2019 CATYC Conference will be held September 8-10, 2019.

Responding to the call for proposals will provide an opportunity for administrators and faculty to participate in the conference and to increase awareness and engagement around HLC our regional accreditor. Early in my academic career, I had the opportunity to present at this fall professional conference. My topic was "Teaching Critical Thinking" a result of my master's thesis.

As the current chair of CATYC, along with our CEO and retired President, George Knox, we are asking for your institution's support and participation.

- Join CATYC – Membership is a modest $100 to $200 annually based on enrollment.
- Attend CATYC reception at the HLC Annual meeting in Chicago, include your staff. Time, place (fall presentation acceptance will be announced)
- Encourage those in your institution to submit a proposal for the Fall 2019 Conference (information enclosed). Deadline for proposals is March 15, 2019.
- Attend the Fall CATYC Conference include: Presidents, Professional Staff and Faculty. (Conference brochure included)

George and I know many of you as long-standing colleagues and welcome the new presidents to join us and help continue the important work of assuring the two-year college view is at the table in HLC planning and implementation discussions.

Sincerely,
